IVY DROP HEARTBREAK VIDEO

Over at the ATH offices, we've been pretty excited about new music from Ivy, so whenever a new single leaks out into the world, you can bet that I'm all over it. On this new one, it's a bit of a rousing stomper, using a stomping drum beat to establish the rhythm of the tune. But, the employment of a horn section also provides a similar bounce that gives a spritely drive to the track itself, leaving lots of open space in between the lines. That's where the group excel, with jangling guitar lines popping in and out, all the while letting the cool breeze of the vocals blow across the top of the mix. Traces of You comes out on my kid's birthday, September 5th, courtesy of Bar/None Records.
